1 Corinthians 10:1-5

Paul explains that the actions of the Hebrew people are recorded in their history book, the Torah. Many sinned while waiting to enter the Promised Land. God judged and punished them for their sins. Paul uses their example to remind us that even those who walked in miracles can be turned from God.

What can we learn from Biblical history?

1 Corinthians 10:6-8

What is significant about the verse “the people sat down to eat and they rose up to play”?

---

1 Corinthians 10:9-13

Paul warns against testing God and complaining to God. How can our actions test the Lord?

---

How does God give us a way out of our test?

---

1 Corinthians 10:14-22

Paul makes it clear that we cannot serve two masters. What happens to us when our loyalties are divided?

---

1 Corinthians 10:23-24

How does placing other interests above our own advance God's plan?

---

---

1 Corinthians 10:25-33

Often when evangelizing for Christ we may find ourselves in situations that are outside of the norm for us. Our first introduction to someone is through either our hospitality or theirs. Why is offering or accepting hospitality an important part of evangelism?
